
Training courses

Advanced communication skills training

If it involves 'communication'; we do it, from body language training, negotiation skills training, confidence courses, presentation skills training, charisma courses to networking training and a whole bunch besides.

Scroll down to see our course menu on the left for details or call 08453 700 155.

We do it differently to every other trainer out there and our clients love it. If you want to see a cross section of our clients please click here, see us in the news here.

Our specialty is the application of 'Flirting and Charisma' in business. We're not talking about seducing your clients, battering your eyelashes or using cheesy chat up lines. In our highly competitive world, the last differentiator is the people in your organisation. If a customer thinks you like them they're much more likely to like you and they're much more likely to buy from you than your competitor. It's as simple as that, our own Flirt Guru, Elizabeth Clark, will make sure you learn it like a pro.

In a working environment where political correctness, employment legislation, email and – in some cases – corporate culture, are quashing our social and communication skills, Elizabeth has a wealth of advice to offer.

If you're looking for basic training then this is a good place to start, but if you want advanced training then there's no better place to look. There are very few trainers that can advance your people as quickly and effectively as Rapport Unlimited.

All of our courses are delivered in our own inimitable upbeat, energetic and entertaining way. Check out our menu of courses on the opposite side of this page or call us on 08453 700 155 . Satisfaction is Guaranteed!