After dinner speaker

John Hotowka, aka the laughter dinner speaker, is a seasoned pro with a reputation for being clean, entertaining and side splittingly funny. John Hotowka is equally at home delivering a keynote speech at a conference, speaking after dinner or entertaining with close up magic at a corporate hospitality event.

Corporate Entertainer

As an after dinner speaker John's approach is adaptable but always visual, engaging, and sparkling with good clean comedy. Your guests will not only laugh out loud but also remember your organisation and event long after it's over.

As a speaker at conferences and seminars John presents your corporate message in a unique way. Working directly from your brief, special scripts are written so your audience remembers your message clearly and take action.

John knows that what the audience takes away with them and remembers after an event is just as important as what happens during it. At a conference it's vital your message is remembered and acted upon. At an exhibition it's your brand, the benefits of your products and services and the contacts you want to make. At a dinner or corporate hospitality event it's your reputation and the bond you create with your guests. Ultimately it's about improving your bottom line.

Since 1989 Hotowka has developed an exceptional understanding of his clients' needs so whatever the occasion he will listen to your requirements then employ his experience to help you create 'Magic In Your Company'.

His innovative style can help you:

- entertain clients and staff after dinner with hilarious magic
- create the right impression at corporate hospitality events
- break the ice with close up magic
- gain the edge at exhibitions by attracting and educating visitors to your stand
- make the benefits of your products and services memorable at product launches
- create a closer working relationship with your staff at team building events
- underpin your message at seminars and conferences
